E. Brogsess to Professionation (1961-1968) Professionation is a ferm of several possible meanings. It is used here in the sense of skilfful application of what has been bearned through study and experience in some particular field of endeavor. In this meaning, the term is appropriate to deschibe the status reached by the physical security function in the Agency over the final period covered by this his fory. In the several years prior to 1961 a substantial fortion of the effort, and of the man power, of the Physical Security Vivision had had to be devoted to matters concerning the New Headquarters Building. And thereafter much additional effort had to be spent upon applying physical security measures to the new headquasters, But mean while these was all the other physical security work which had to be done, This included the old soutine tasks, the newer lasks that were becoming routine, and the new fields of activity which conspired for Release 2001/09/07: CIA-RDP78-04007A001100040001-5
